The three pillars of the Foundation's work are the preservation, study, and teaching of shamanic knowledge. Your annual or monthly pledge helps every day to preserve endangered shamanic knowledge and return this transformative healing and problem-solving practice to contemporary society—as well as fostering essential long term planning crucial to sustaining the Foundation's work. You may choose the fund you wish to support or select "ALL" funds and your donation will be used where it will do the most good. We couldn't do it without you.

Thank you,
Michael Harner

YES, I WANT TO DONATE TO HELP IN THE PRESERVATION AND RETURN OF SHAMANISM

THE FOUNDATION IS: Teaching core shamanism in Taipei in Chinese. The first workshops were recently taught there by Kevin Turner, FSS faculty in Japan, who has just returned from Mongolia, where as a field representative of the Foundation, he taught about core shamanism. The Baniwa Shamanic Revitalization in Northwest Amazonia is saving shamanic knowledge for future generations with the building of the Shaman's School of Knowledge. Snuff jaguar shaman and FSS Living Treasure Mandu da Silva now has several apprentices eager to learn the shamanic knowledge of the Baniwa people. Support is urgently needed to continue this revitalization. The Foundation is working to bring shamanic healing into the mainstream by seeking collaborative opportunities for teaching and offering shamanic healing at established complementary and alternative medical centers. Michael Harner's book The Way of the Shaman has been released in an updated French translation and in Mongolian. The first public offering of Sandra Harner's new workshop Shamanic Training in Creativity was held in August in San Francisco to an enthusiastic group of participants, with several workshops now scheduled by FSS faculty.
